Introduction:

Medical Society is an interest group formed by Dunmanians who are passionate about medical or healthcare related issues and industries. Information on medical related issues are dispensed weekly through various interactive ways such as mini presentations, debate sessions, documentary viewing and games. To further enhance our members' insights into healthcare industries, the EXCO occasionally invites alumni from various healthcare courses to share their journey as health professionals.

Besides weekly sessions, members of medical society can learn and explore the health sector through events such as external VIA and attachment opportunities, for example, the Tri-generational Homecare VIA by NUS Medicine. Members also get to develop their leadership skills and creativity through active participation in the planning of our annual Health week, usually held in February.

Moreover, Medical Society organises an annual Blood Donation Drive and Bone Marrow Donor Programme so as to support the healthcare industry in Singapore.

Achievements:

Apart from the opportunities mentioned above, members also get the chance to compete in various competitions such as the annual LKC Anatomy Challenge and SingYouth Heart Challenge. Some achievements we have had so far include:

1. SingYouth Heart Challenge Best Presentation Award (2018)
2. LKC Anatomy Challenge Individual Merit Awards (2018)
